PLANCKS Bingo

Try to cross off 5 fields in one row, one column or one diagonal to get a win („Bingo").

Of course you can keep playing, once you have the first…

I use an eco-friendly search engine (e.g. Ecosia).	I found someone who has been to Munich before PLANCKS22. Name & Year of Visit: _____ _____	I chose the vegetarian diet option for PLANCKS22.	I posted a meme in the PLANCKS22 meme channel.	I took a picture with a horse. Location: _____
I asked a question to one of the guest speakers. Speaker: _____	I have calculated my personal carbon footprint* .	I tried three different types of bavarian beer. Brands: _____ _____ _____	I arrived by train.	I worked through an old PLANCKS problem to practice. Year: _____
I found someone who failed the first attempt of their QM exam. University: _____	I took part in a lab tour. Lab Name: _____	I usually walk or cycle to university.	I found someone who has engaged with String Theory (or other field). Name: _____	I found someone who can name 4 famous female physicists off the top of their head.
I attended the climate modelling workshop.	I had breakfast with people from 5 different countries.	I found someone who can hold the Plan(c)k for 5 minutes. Name: _____	I chose the vegan diet option for PLANCKS22.	I found someone who has worked as a tutor. Name & Tutorial: _____ _____
I found someone who can say the first 10 decimal places of π. Name & π: _____ _____	The only flight I took in a year was to come to PLANCKS22.	I talked to someone about their research during the Poster Session. Name & Topic: _____ _____	I found someone with an unusual hobby. Name & Hobby: _____ _____	I learned about the waste separation system in Germany and follow it.

*UN carbon footprint calculator: https://offset.climateneutralnow.org/footprintcalc